

“We brought Banjo (formerly Ozzie) home on November 2nd to meet his big brother and best friend Ollie (formerly Nuke), who we brought home this past May. They have become inseparable and spend the days playing, wrestling, sleeping side by side, and sharing their toys. Banjo has already learned a few tricks, has great recall, and rarely has accidents in the house (except the excited pees when company comes of course 😊). He has met his 3 dog cousins and they all get along well. In less than six months we have brought home two of the most amazing dogs. We knew Ollie needed a friend, and he found the perfect companion when we were chosen by Banjo. Thank you to the Humane Society for helping us add the sweetest little guys to our family, we couldn't be happier with our furballs. ❤️ Can't wait to watch these 2 grow old together!”
